News from the award winning leader

Lift Shop continues to be involved with some remarkable projects, and we're very proud of the installations that have been completed... with many more still in progress.

Our lifts continue to be in high demand - for both their features and style. We increasingly find that the technology and safety features are a big draw card, but importantly, customers love the design flexibility. Then there's the quality, which is unbeatable - there's just nothing else quite like it.

It continues to give us great pleasure to share some of our most recently celebrated projects with you and this month we feature:

Perth Showroom Expands

In conjunction with the renovations of Home Base, Perth WA, we have also expanded our display area and range. Sitting proudly in our expanded area, our stunning new ElfoLift 2...

Luxury Plus

With an absolute emphasis on modern convenience, spacious layout and clean lines, it was only fitting that our top of the line Supermec 3 also featured in this Perth riverside residence...

Exploring The Boundaries

Love it - again it has been a pleasure working with a design team with vision. In this case it was a combination of the design and project management team from Palfreeman Sweeney Architects...

Integrated And Standout

Designed to fit perfectly, the FreedomLift and glass and anodised aluminium shaft at the lower level of this new home in Perth's Nedlands forms a perfect corner piece between the adjoining walls...

With the rollout of the National Broadband Network, the safety of some telephone systems may be affected, including those in lifts. Whilst this is being addressed with all new lift installations, phones in lifts already in operation should be checked. As such, if you live in an area where the NBN has been rolled out, we encourage you to test your lift phone by simply giving us a call, this will not be a problem for us and we'll be happy to hear from you. Of course we will continue to test all lift phones as part of our regular servicing activities.

Feedback

We love to hear what our customers think. If you have any feedback on any of the above stories, or would simply like to tell us about your Lift Shop lift experience or project, please contact us.
